Chair's Corner

Well, are all you leaders ready to put in your technical trips for 15 July thru 15 September? See the correspondence from Cathy Benton printed below for details about what is required. Because we cannot advertise trips prior to approval according to these procedures, lead time for submitting technical trips will be unusually long. To meet the next Bonanza schedule, we need all technical climbs submitted not later than 1 May 94 to have time for prior approval by national office. Submit your proposals to me, Bob Buckles, with all details required including trip and leader information.

At John Watters' (Outings Guidelines) request Jackie Stroud, John Sarna and I met on 13 April 94 to form the Mother Lode Chapter Mountaineering Committee. We will review all trips which fall under mountaineering restrictions prior to submission to the national office. I was appointed based on my current status as Peak and Gorge Section Chair. Jackie Stroud and John Sarna are both previous P&G Chairs who also have substantial class V rockclimbing and other mountaineering experience. At our first meeting, there was considerable discussion of whether people will lead or participate in technical trips under the new procedures. In any case, we are working to set up the procedures so that those who want to can lead trips. I also encourage leaders to give the new procedures a try even if you do not agree with the $10.00 per person fee or other administrative requirements. We are also planning to submit a letter proposing some changes to these rules. Any comments on the new policy are welcome!

Unfortunately, at the same time we are trying to get mountaineering restrictions eased, the Chapter also had a fatal accident during a Sierra Club hike. Ruthe McKee died when she fell off the Windy Point Trail, slid down a steep slope, and fell approximately 70' off a cliff to rocks. The trail was described by leader Terry Davis as primitive trail, typical of most of the trails in our foothill river gorges. This serves as a painful reminder that there are significant hazards even in non-technical trips on trail. We all regret this terrible accident and express our sympathy for Ruthe's family.

Elkhorn Peak 1330'

A year ago I climbed Elkhorn Pk. in the coast Range just off Highway 12 and west of Cordelia Jct. After all that rain it was great to get out and hike. The peak has an interesting 2 - horned summit and is visible from I - 80 when going west. In the past it was an indian landmark.

Park at a small turnout just past a bridge. The bridge is 0.3 miles west of the Napa / Salano county line. Ascend to the west of the creek to a large bowl, contour over to a long straight fence, then up steep mud & grass between the 2 "horns" of the "Elk".

There is no benchmark and I did not place a register. This is private property but no security guards, dogs, or electrified fences. This peak is on the Coast Range list! --Raoul Mocho

Mt. Wittenberg (1407') Point Reyes, April 9, 1994

It was a gorgeous Spring Saturday that saw John Besbekos, John Watters, Anna Chaput, and 9 other hikers arrive at Point Reyes National Seashore. We began by parking near the Hostel and heading toward the environmental center. After wandering between the cabins for a couple of minutes we found the Laguna trailhead, and started our climb up to Inverness Ridge.

About 500' higher and 2 miles along the trail we ran into a couple equestrians and one misbehaving horse. About a mile along the Sky Trail, the decision was made to bypass Sky Camp and the pit toilets and head for the lofty heights of Mt. Wittenberg!!! High point of the park!!!

When we got to the foot of the infamous 100' steep use trail to the summit, a few newcomers balked at having more uphill to do. When it was announced that lunch would be at the top, everyone dutifully tromped to the top. Anna sailed past John B. and John W. and declared this the first peak bag of 1994! Mt. Whitney-berg conquered!

With all the climbing done, we began a leisurely downward trek to Coast Camp. Due to the strong winds, a walk along the beach was replaced by the higher, better footing Coast Trail. The outing was capped by a Chinese dinner in Fairfield.

---John Besbekos

Recently, my boss decided that I should learn how to use SAS. I was sent to Irvine, CA to take an introductory class. Since the class ran through the end of the day on Friday, I took the opportunity to hang out in the LA area for the weekend to climb Rabbit Peak.

I drove to Indio on Friday night, got a hotel room, watched some NCAA hoops, and crashed. When I got up, at 4:00 am on Saturday, it was pouring rain. I hung out, watched Halloween II on TV, ate my breakfast, and it was still pouring. Rabbit Peak is easily a 12 to 14 hour dayhike, and I wasn't going to do it in the rain -- and the rain gave no indications of giving up. (That weekend, there was flooding in the south part of the LA basin, and earthquakes in the north. Some weekend!) When I finally left my hotel room at 6:00, the street lights were out because of flooding. To get some exercise I decided to go to Joshua Tree and bag a peak.

Ultimately, Pinto Mountain became my destination. The Desert Peak Section Road And Peaks Guide rates Pinto as a five hour hike. That is pretty much what it took. My version of the DPS Guide had one error. From the southern approach, the Guide provides incorrect mileage from the ranger station to the roadhead. However, the Guide says the trailhead is just south of milepost 16, and it is.

The hike itself was, to me, less interesting than any of the five other DPS peaks I have climbed. The first two to 2 1/2 miles are across the desert (valley) floor to reach the foot of the mountain range. To cross the stretch, you sight your route using your compass. The peak is conical shaped. It stands just behind another peak that is more dominating from the road. The angle to the peak is a 32 degree angle from magnetic north, measured from the trailhead. The Guides says to find the peak, then find the ridge leading to it, and just run straight towards the ridge. The route crosses a huge sand dune, one of the more interesting aspects of the hike. Other than that, the first half of the route is level, and there is clear path left by hundreds of footprints.

Once you get to the mountain range, the route heads up the face of the range, and then follows the ridge to the peak. While there is no official trail, a well worn usage trail exists and a number of ducks help guide the way. The only tricky part is picking your way to the ridge, and that is pretty easy. Throughout the route, vegetation is extremely sparse. The immediate terrain is jumbled rock of many colors.

The day I was there, it rained all day, and it was raining when I was on top. Someone, somewhere along the line, built a large cairn at the top. One of the rocks in the cairn is painted, and it has the word 'rock' stenciled on it. Someone explain that one. From the peak, I enjoyed views to the south but clouds totally obscured the views in all other directions. The 'scenic' highlight of the trip was the desert tortoise that I encountered crossing the sand dune. Pinto Mountain is a nice half-day hike, but it is not a peak I shall return to soon. Pinto Mountain was my sixth DPS peak, meaning that I now qualify for membership in the DPS.

CHAPTER & GROUP OUTINGS

730 Polk Street, San Francisco, CA 94109 (415) 923-5652

MEMORANDUM

Date:

March 30, 1994

From:

Cathy Benton, National Coordinator for Chapter & Group Outings

To:

Chapter Outing Chairs of those chapters participating in mountaineering activities in 1994

Subject:

1994 Mountaineering/ Rock Climbing AD&D

This is a follow-up to the memo sent to you dated February 17, 1994, announcing the restored mountaineering/rock climbing insurance coverage for the Sierra Club. At the time that memo was distributed, the per day, per participant fee for the required Accidental Death & Dismemberment was undetermined.

After gathering estimates of participant days from several chapters, and after numerous discussions with The Insurance Committee, The Club's Risk Manager, the Director of Outings, and myself, the charge for 1994 has been set at $10.00, per person, per day. This amount will recover a reasonable portion of the insurance premium for AD&D coverage.

If an outing is certified by Cal French, and the Mountaineering Oversight Committee, the trip leader will be required to submit a post-trip summary evaluation within 30 days of the trip. This will include a complete roster/sign-in sheet of all participants, including addresses and membership numbers, the "Trip Members Responsibility and Liability Release" that must be signed by all trip participants before the trip commences, and a check for the AD&D collected from the participants. This post-trip information should be sent to me at the above address.

For those chapters who feel that charging participants the amount of the AD&D makes their outing less competitive, there is another option. Your chapter can absorb the cost, and pay the AD&D themselves, thus charging the participants nothing for this coverage. Any chapter that is interested in doing this will need to send written agreement to me, and will have to pay the fee either after each trip, with the above mentioned post-trip information, or can asked to be billed at the end of our insurance fiscal year (October).

If you have any questions about this, please call me at the above phone number and I will be happy to help you.

CERTIFICATION GUIDELINES

The following is the interim process for having mountaineering/rock climbing trips certified through the Mountaineering Oversight Committee for all chapters, groups, and sections.

- 1) For each mountaineering/rock climbing trip proposed, the leader will submit a trip plan to:
 - A) An experienced person, qualified to make a judgment on a proposed trip, appointed by the outing or activities chair for that particular chapter or group.
 - B) Cal French
 Mountaineering Oversight Committee Chair
 1690 N. 2nd Avenue
 Upland, CA 91784
 - C) Cathy Benton
 National Coordinator for Chapter and Group Outings
 730 Polk Street
 San Francisco, CA 94109

The trip plan should include:

The name of the trip

Trip dates

The names of the leaders

A description of each leader, including experience, first aid, and mountaineering certification

A technical description of the trip difficulty

A detailed description of the intended route

A detailed description of the participant screening process

A detailed description of the experience requirements for participants

- 2) The chapter representative will review the plan and inform the leader(s) and Cathy Benton of his/her decision.
- 3) The Mountaineering Oversight Committee Chair will review the trip plan and inform both the leader(s) and Cathy Benton of the decision.
- 4) No trip may be advertised to members, nor can any signups be taken, until written approval of certification has been obtained.
- 5) Chapter and group leaders should expect this process to take three to four weeks.

Northern Alpine Section

The purpose of the Northern Alpine Section of the Peak and Gorge vision of the Mother Lode Chapter of the Sierra Club is to give peak climbers the opportunity to climb and explore a variety of mountain ranges throughout California, the Great Basin and Southern Oregon.

The peaks are classified as Star (*), Emblem (x), and Mountaineer Peaks. according to their elevation, technical difficulty, dominance of an area, view, and inaccessibility. Star peaks will generally be dominant in setting, have exceptional views, and often will be more technically difficult to climb. Emblem peaks will be somewhat less difficult and may be secondary peaks in the setting. The Mountaineer peaks are generally workout peaks. Those not designated Star or emblem peaks will be considered in this category.

An award will be given upon completion of the various peak plans and the submittal of $6.00 to the Peak and Gorge Treasurer. The dates of climbs and the name of the leader of the party must be submitted along with the fee.

Plan 1: 15 peaks -- all Star peaks.

Sierra Novada

Plan 2: 20 peaks -- 10 Star peaks and any other 10 on the list.

Plan 3: 25 peaks -- any 25 peaks on the list.

ATTENTION ROCK-CLIMBERS

In January, we had a Peak and Gorge Social to discuss rock climbing opportunities around Sacramento. With only a few people attending, Jeff, the founder of CRAGS (Climbers and Rope Adventurists of Greater Sacramento, 278-5382.) told us about how to sign up for their organized climbs. These cost about half the going rate partly due to their affiliation with CSUS. They also have a newsletter (it costs $10/year) which includes a list of current members along with their phone numbers, ability rating, equipment and best times to climb. As for us, Bob Buckles told us that the Sierra Club finally has mountaineering insurance again, although we can't use it for training, and the specifics are still being worked out. Finally, as to why I'm writing this, I volunteered at the meeting to update and republish the Peak and Gorge list of local people interested in rock-climbing, which last appeared in this Newletter 3 years ago. So, if you'd like a climbing partner or want to organize a group climb, you can call any of the following people and see if they're interested:

Oscar Balaguer: 443-6171 (5.8) has rope & rack

Bob Buckles: 624-3620 Alan Cooke: 756-5183

Jeff Gottesmann: 758-9942 (5.3) has rope

Barbara Manwell: 332-5466 Donald Hoffman: 209-946-0896

Linda Howard: 209/245-4364 (5.8-9, has rope & pro)

Peggy Lehman: 452-5057

Ted Lenzie 682-4721 (has rope & rack, top rope now and more later)

Jackie Moore-Simmons: 923-0351 (5.8-9) has rope & rack

John Sarna: 429-8024 (5.7) Rich Strohl: 756-5087 Steve Thaw: 415-376-3380 John Watters: 488-8467

Pete Yamagata: 444-6319 (5.4) has two ropes & pro

Congratulations Terry Flood !!!

716/620-4364

Terry has completed 67 peaks in 17 areas from the NAS list to make his Super Emblem Qualification. Most of the peaks were climbed during 1990 to 1993 and include eight 14,000'+ peaks. Terry hails from Carlsbad CA; one of our long distance members. Hope to see you on one of our hikes soon Terry.

For those who missed the last two P&G meetings, get miserable. Tom Meagher gave two excellent slide shows, combining kayaking and mountaineering each time. In March, his show included peak climbs in the Andes with some great views of peaks few have ever climbed--for good reason! His fifth class kayaking slides were unbelievable. In April we got a show on trying to climb Mt McKinley from the north. As Tom described it, they saved a few bucks, hauled equipment 300 miles due to multiple hauls every step of the way, and got to enjoy some truly miserable weather. Isn't that what mountaineers live for. His Grand Canyon slides would make a good calendar selection. Thanks again Tom!
